

THE OPTIMAL PIECE OF MACHINERY FOR ADDED VERSATILITY TO YOUR APPLICATION PROCESS.

The Schold Shot Mills are versatile pieces of machinery for grinding, milling and deagglomerating. These units can be used as stand-alone units, integrated with a pre-mix/pre-dispersion process, or be installed in series with different media sizes for multi-pass and sub-micron, high-production applications.

For any process, Schold offers the Shot Mill in both a vertical and horizontal configuration depending on your operational requirements.

VSM - HIGH-SPEED VERTICAL SHOT MILL |

Our High-Speed Vertical Shot Mill is designed for deagglomerating, dispersing and milling a wide range of materials, including paints, inks, dyestuffs, adhesives, foods, pharmaceuticals and other similar fluids. Operating under internal pressure, the VSM can handle materials with high viscosities or thixotropy, as well as moisture and air-sensitive materials.

Schold's newer Horizontal Shot Mill is among the industry's favorites for small media mills that offer quick and easy clean-out between batches. Similar to our Vertical Mill, the Horizontal Mill is designed for deagglomerating, dispersing and milling a wide range of materials, including paints, inks, dyestuffs, adhesives, foods, pharmaceuticals and more.
