

THE UNIVERSALLY TRUSTED EQUIPMENT FOR PARTICLE REDUCTION

The Schold media mills are versatile machines for milling. These units can be used as stand-alone units, integrated with a pre-mix/pre-dispersion process, or be installed in series with different media sizes for multi-pass and sub-micron, high-production applications.

Schold's newly redesigned Horizontal Media Mill provides efficient particle reduction as well as quick and easy clean-out between batches. Similar to our Vertical Mill, the Horizontal Mill is designed for milling a wide range of materials, including paints, coatings, low to medium viscosity inks, dyestuffs, foods, pharmaceuticals and more.

DISC CONFIGURATIONS |

Disc design can often make or break your process. Schold mill discs come in many different materials including hardened steels, composites, poly materials, among others. They are also available in many different designs.

VERSATILE OVERCUP DESIGN |

The Schold overcup is custom designed to each application. The overcup works to keep media away from the screen so that there is less clogging and packing of the screen than in previous mill models. The Schold overcup is available in different configurations.

CENTRALIZED UTILITY HOOKUP |

The Schold HSM utility connections (compressed air, chilled water inlet and outlet, etc.) are all centrally located for convenient control of your mill.
